Calendar Information on Page 2

LOS ANGELES (November 13, 2018) – Grand Park announced an unprecedented experience -- Grand Park's Winter Glow -- that showcases the West Coast's unique holiday spirit and winter season. The new month-long, immersive nighttime light attraction will feature installations by local artists and celebrate light as a giver of warmth, a source of beauty, a draw for people to come together during the winter months, and a key element of many holiday season traditions across cultures. The event plays off of the Los Angeles tradition of visiting neighborhoods to see holiday décor, in this case making it accessible and easy to find. Winter Glow will transform Grand Park into a whimsical beacon that draws Angelenos downtown to interact with art and each other. The only free exhibit of its kind in the area is open to the public from December 1 - 25, 2018, offering park goers the opportunity to gather, enjoy the holiday season and celebrate the wonder of art as it illuminates Downtown L.A.

Angelenos will experience Grand Park like never before with 19 curated large-scale interactive light installations featuring displays designed by L.A.-based artists along with those designed by Grand Park team. Iconic elements of the park, including the Arthur J. Will Memorial Fountain, will shine as familiar pathways lead to exciting new discoveries throughout the 12-acre park. The latest in light and projection technology will transform park spaces, which will “glow” alongside the park’s traditional holiday décor, including the L.A. County Christmas Tree and the Grand Park pink light tree and menorah.

“In this diverse, fast-paced, sprawling region of ours, it’s important to take the time to connect with each other and the world around us,” said Rachel Moore, president and CEO of The Music Center. “Grand Park's Winter Glow invites us to come together in Grand Park, Los Angeles’ central gathering place, and take a reprieve from the busy pace of life. It will be a delightful experience that grants us the opportunity to bask in the glow of the season.”

“Grand Park's Winter Glow offers Southern California families and friends an opportunity to visit the park, take pictures together, enjoy a free evening of holiday joy in a beautiful outdoor setting and make magical holiday memories,” said Julia Diamond, interim director, Grand Park. “In true Grand Park style, many of the Winter Glow light installations are designed by local artists, creating an experience unique to Los
